GRANT DEADLINE: NOVEMBER 10, 2017, 5:00 P.M. MST

The Folk Arts Specialist will assist you in connecting with translation services as needed.

The Folk Arts Cultural Preservation Grant offers two tracks for applicants to support the preservation and presentation of traditions through targeted projects: "Project Support" or "Community Workshop."

- The Folk Arts Project Support track assists individual artists, organizations, and cultural communities in the preservation, documentation, and presentation of their traditional art forms through the completion of a specific project. Funding can be used for expenses such as videography, photography, conservation or exhibition materials, or cultural events.
  - Funding Amount up to $500

- The Folk Arts Community Workshop track supports workshops, classes, and other small group learning activities that provide intergenerational learning experiences for members of a shared cultural community. Applicants submit a project plan that clearly articulates how they will provide traditional training for other members of their shared culture group. Funds can be used to pay master teachers or tradition bearers, subsidize workshop or rehearsal space, and other materials needed for the transmission of traditional artistic skills in a group setting. Group teaching scenarios may consist of short-term intensive workshops or may be regularly scheduled classes that take place over a six-month period.
  - Funding Amount up to $1,500

APPLICATION QUESTIONS

All applications must be submitted online through the grant application portal. If you do not currently have access to the portal, it can take up to two days to receive a portal account. Submitted applications will be reviewed by a qualified panel and a member of the Utah Arts Council board. The panel will evaluate each application based on the questions below.

GENERAL INFORMATION (not scored)

- On the first page of your application, provide a 2-3 sentence description of teacher and student under DESCRIPTION. This text will go on your contract if funded.
- Basic contact information for project organizers.

ARTISTIC EXCELLENCE (80%): Artistic excellence demonstrates the potential to create art that meets the highest standards of excellence, engages the public with diverse art forms; enables participants to acquire knowledge or skills in the arts; and/or strengthens communities through the arts. What constitutes artistic excellence may vary.

Questions We Ask:	What We're Looking For:
Provide a detailed description of the project and what you plan to accomplish. Describe the cultural tradition(s) that will be preserved and shared.	Explain how the tradition is practiced in Utah and why it is important for it to be taught to more people in the cultural community.
What cultural group (nationality, tribal group, occupation, etc.) developed this art form or tradition, and who practices it in Utah today?	Cultural groups can be defined by ethnicity, religion, geographic region, or occupation. Please indicate which categories apply.
Provide supporting documentation that demonstrates the artistic and cultural merit of the project (e.g. photo, video, audio files, letters of support etc.) Limit 3.	Work samples are required and are an important part of how the panel decides who to fund. Work samples can include audio recordings, pictures, or videos and should show mastery of the specific tradition. Links to YouTube videos are acceptable. The Folk Arts Specialist can assist you with generating or digitizing relevant work samples prior to submission of your application.

Please identify any individuals or important elements featured in the work samples submitted above (in order of submission). The work samples should reflect previous experience with cultural preservation projects or traditional activities.	Use the descriptive field to identify individuals or elements featured. You must clearly identify the important elements of each sample (i.e. individuals, art form, year created) in the descriptive field. Please keep videos brief (no more than 5 minute each). If the project involves performing artists, a video will help assist the panel in determining artistic excellence.
For Project Support track: How will completing your proposed project make a difference to your cultural community?	Explain why this activity will have a positive impact for the community and support cultural preservation.
For Community Workshop track: Provide a short background of the key people involved.	How did the master artists, teachers, rehearsal leaders, etc. become proficient in their skills? How long have they taught, and what are their major accomplishments? Inform the panel why the involved individuals are the best or most appropriate for completing the proposed project.
For Community Workshop track: Describe how the teacher(s) will provide traditional training for other members of their shared culture group.	How many meetings per week/month? What subjects will be covered in these meetings? What will be the structure of the meetings? Clearly defining the project's goals and timeline will help the panel determine whether there are enough resources available to complete the project successfully.

SOUND MANAGEMENT (20%): Sound management demonstrates the ability to carry out the proposed activities, including administrative support, use of resources, evaluation methods, and plans for improvement.

Questions We Ask:	What We're Looking For:
What venues/locations will be used to complete your project?	Inform the panel where the major activities will take place and why these sites were chosen.
How will you promote the project in your cultural community or make it accessible for the general public?	Public presentations may take a variety of forms beyond performances or exhibits; a key requirement is that they must be accessible to the public. Web-based presentations, blogs, or YouTube videos are acceptable, but applicants should discuss these ideas with Folk Arts Program staff prior to application submission. All public presentations must clearly indicate sponsorship by Utah Division of Arts & Museums and the National Endowment for the Arts.
How will you evaluate success at the end of the project?	Provide information about your evaluation methods. The panel wants to know how you plan to evaluate your project, and, if this is a project that has been done previously, how you have implemented what you learned.
Fill out the Folk Arts Preservation Grant Budget sheet and upload it to this question.	The budget sheet can be found on our website at: https://heritage.utah.gov/arts-and-museums/grant-forms . If you have any questions about the budget or any other element of the grant, please call.

REVIEW PROCESS

Grants made by the Utah Division of Arts and Museums encourage arts, museum, and cultural experiences in communities statewide and for all the citizens of Utah who contribute to the revenue of the state through taxes. Grant panels work diligently to evaluate grants based on artistic merit, sound fiscal management, and ability to reach a broad community.

A panel of peers will review and score the applications based on the criteria in the guidelines. The process is overseen by a board member. Grant awards depend on the amount of funding requested, how the applicant scores in the review process (with attention paid to regional and rural distribution of state funds), and the total amount of funding available. The Utah Arts Council Board of Directors reviews and approves final funding recommendations. Following board review, applicants are notified and contracts are sent via email. Applicants must sign and return contracts before payment can be made.
