Unless someone like you cares a whole awful lot, nothing's going to get better. It’s not.

- Dr. Suess
As Executive Director of UServeUtah, I have the honor of leading the State of Utah Government agency dedicated to empowering residents to meet community needs through service. As the central coordinating body for service and volunteerism, UServeUtah, the Utah Commission on Service & Volunteerism is responsible for developing, implementing, and sustaining a vision and culture of civic engagement and national and community service within the state. The Commission works daily to find ways of making a meaningful, measurable difference in the lives of everyone in our community and in this report, you’ll learn about the work undertaken during 2013.

Much of 2013 was spent developing a new UServeUtah strategic plan which is the roadmap to building systems that will harness and focus our unique and invaluable resource – the cultural ethic of service and volunteerism that exists among Utah citizens. The process of developing this plan has provided an opportunity for assessing and deepening UServeUtah’s approach to its work. We emerged with ambitious goals and a clear, focused direction for the next three years, and in 2014 we have begun to implement new strategies in our Focus Areas—National Service, Community Engagement and Disaster Service.

By helping organizations across the state maximize their efforts using service and volunteerism we are bringing together people and organizations that can generate the passion, expertise and resources needed to get things done. With a fresh perspective on our mission, understanding what we do well, and the environment in which we operate, UServeUtah is excited for the future and the opportunity to make an impact on some of the most pressing problems facing our state. Thank you for supporting Utah communities!

Yours in Service,

LaDawn Stoddard
ABOUT THE COMMISSION

UServeUtah, the Utah Commission on Service and Volunteerism, was created by state statute in 1994 and is comprised of 20 members representing local government, community-based organizations and statewide networks. As the state’s central coordinating body for service and volunteerism, the Commission is responsible for developing, implementing, and sustaining a vision and culture of civic engagement and national and community service within the state.

Since its inception in 1994, UServeUtah has focused on increasing the capacity of organizations to serve, strengthen and transform communities through service and volunteerism. It furthers its mission by: promoting volunteerism, administering National Service programs, connecting people with opportunities to serve, building organizational capacity for effective volunteer engagement, and participating in strategic initiatives that mobilize volunteers to meet local needs.

UServeUtah views service as a fundamental building block of a civil society as well as a way to cultivate a sense of personal and civic responsibility. Service can also be an effective strategy for solving a wide range of community problems, and when well-conceived and implemented, a cost-effective complement to the work of professionals. Service is a lifelong habit that can be most easily acquired early in life and a vital Utah tradition.

“Volunteers are an essential part of making our communities vibrant and strong. That is why the work of UServeUtah is so important. By helping organizations across the state maximize their efforts using service and volunteerism, they are having an impact far greater than if government, business or the nonprofit sector acted alone.”

- Chris Bray, Commission Vice Chair

VOLUNTEER RECOGNITION

The Commission seeks to build and cultivate capacity in the volunteer and service community by recognizing volunteer leaders and inspiring statewide volunteerism through collaboration. The proper recognition of volunteers is an important component in any volunteer program, large or small. UServeUtah recognizes outstanding volunteers annually through the Lt. Governors Volunteer Awards events. In addition, Utah non-profits also have an opportunity to recognize dedicated volunteers through the UServeUtah Volunteer Recognition Certificate program.

The Lt. Governor’s Volunteer Recognition Certificate program is an opportunity for nonprofit, faith-based, corporate and government agencies to recognize the on-going volunteer efforts in their own agencies with a certificate signed by the Lieutenant Governor. This certificate is aimed at recognizing just a few of the many volunteers helping to make Utah a better state, while promoting and inspiring further on-going volunteer efforts. In 2013, 287 certificates were distributed.

The Utah Volunteer Service Awards celebrate the extraordinary volunteer efforts of Utahns all across the state. DAYS OF SERVICE

Martin Luther King Jr. Day of Service
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. once said, “Life’s most persistent and urgent question is: ‘What are you doing for others?’” Each year, Americans across the country answer that question by coming together on the King Holiday to serve their neighbors and communities. The MLK Day of Service is a part of United We Serve, the president’s national call to service initiative. It calls for Americans from all walks of life to work together to provide solutions to our most pressing national problems. UServeUtah grants money to increase the number of people who serve in meaningful roles as volunteers dedicated to addressing important needs in communities across Utah.

September 11th National Day of Service and Remembrance
The September 11th National Day of Service and Remembrance is the culmination of an effort originally launched in 2002 by 9/11 family members and support groups, who worked to establish the charitable service day as a forward-looking way to honor 9/11 victims, survivors, and others who rose up in service in response to the attacks. UServeUtah gave grants to the following organizations to complete service projects: Learning for Life, Lutheran Services, Utah State Botanical Center, South Valley Sanctuary, United Way of Utah County, Utah Valley University, Cache Valley Volunteer Center, Six County RSVP, Southern Utah University. The grants totalled $17,000 and approximately 1,200 volunteers were mobilized. UServeUtah also granted $5000 to Utah State University (USU) that went towards purchasing Cedar bark for a 9/11 memorial to be erected at the USU Botanical Center in Kaysville. Approximately 300 volunteers and 800 volunteer hours were logged in conjunction with this grant. The memorial was dedicated on September 11th capping a 12-year fundraising effort by youth volunteers and their adult organizers. Lt. Gov. Greg Bell and Rep. Rob Bishop, R-Utah spoke at the event.

Summer of Service
Summer of Service is a statewide campaign in partnership with the Utah Commission on Service and Volunteerism and the Volunteer Center Association of Utah to celebrate and mobilize youth to make a difference in their communities by volunteering over the summer. Summer of Service is an opportunity for people to engage, learn about and work with their communities in Utah through acts of service. Projects related to Summer of Service were hosted across the state with various community organizations including: Utah State University- Utah Conservation Corps, Girl Scouts of Utah, Kane County, United Way, Youthlinc, South Jordan Youth City Council, and the Cache Valley Volunteer Center. In total, 104 youth participated and donated 8,788 hours of service to their communities.

UServeUtah Staff Volunteer Days
With a mission to strengthen Utah communities through the power and service of volunteerism, we feel it is important that our office sets an example for organizations on engaging staff in volunteering in the community. We also utilize volunteering as an opportunity for team building and networking with our main audience. First implemented in August 2013, staff participated in two service projects during the year. The first project occurred in conjunction with the September 11th National Day of Service and Remembrance. Staff spent the morning laying mulch and landscaping at the Utah Botanical Center in Kaysville. In December, UServeUtah collected emergency preparedness donations and decorated a “Be Ready Utah” tree that was donated to the Festival of Trees.

“I enjoy volunteering with my team because it gets us interacting and working together outside of our traditional roles, which helps foster stronger relationships in the office. The work we do on a regular basis is a step or two removed from the actual work of volunteers, so it is nice to interact directly with other volunteers from time to time.”

– Katie Barlow, UServeUtah
Global Youth Service Day

GYSD is an annual campaign to mobilize millions of children and youth locally and globally to improve their communities through service and volunteering. It’s the only day of service dedicated to children and youth celebrated each year in over 100 countries. In 2013 UServeUtah awarded small grants to assist organizations as they planned projects for Global Youth Service Day, which was celebrated April 26-28, 2013. Global Youth Service Day is a project through Youth Service America.
Volunteers can be essential in helping to rebuild lives and communities after a disaster. It’s important that volunteers are given meaningful and constructive opportunities to serve, while not overwhelming the affected community during the response and recovery. UServeUtah provides regular trainings to help local communities plan for coordination of spontaneous and unaffiliated volunteers during disaster recovery efforts.

In the event of a disaster, UServeUtah serves on the State Emergency Response Team (SERT) and is the lead in coordinating volunteer and donations management. UServeUtah also acts as the liaison with the Corporation for National and Community Service to call upon National Service resources such as AmeriCorps NCCC (National Civilian Community Corps) and FEMA Corps members for on-ground support.

Festival of Trees
In partnership with Be Ready Utah, UServeUtah donated a tree to the Utah Festival of Trees. The festival solicits donated, decorated trees, which are then auctioned off to businesses, organizations, individuals or families. The proceeds benefit Primary Children’s Hospital. The trees are on display at the South Towne Expo after being auctioned off.

Our tree was decorated with silver and red items related to emergency preparedness. The tree skirt was made up of emergency blankets, ornaments made from silver colored silverware sets, bowls and plates, multi-function tools, and clear glass ball ornaments with the Be Ready Utah logo inside. Under the tree as gifts were canned goods, mess kits, mini folding shovels and a fireproof safe. There were enough supplies on the tree for a family of 4-6 to be able to create a 72 hour emergency kit. This event was a great way to give back to the community and to create awareness about the importance of emergency preparedness. The project was a great success and our tree was sold at auction on the first day of the festival!
