

EVENTS

MONDAYS IN THE PARK artsandmuseums.utah.gov > things to do and see > events

An outdoor summer concert series on the lawn of the Chase Home in Liberty Park, free of charge. The concerts feature local visual folk artists and performing folk artists on Monday evenings in July and August.

PIONEER DAY

Celebrate the Days of '47 with demonstrations from the folk artists featured in front of the museum.

MUSEUM DAY LIVE!

Support your local museums by visiting us on Smithsonian Museum Day where you can experience folk music and art demonstrations.

WORKSHOPS

Spend time on the Chase Home balcony with a local folk artist learning their specific art form. Artists, dates and prices vary.

MUSEUM

FOLK ART MUSEUM folkartsmuseum.com

The Chase Home is where traditional artists from Utah's ethnic, native, occupational and rural communities share their craft, music and dance with their own communities, their fellow Utahns, and with visitors from around the world. If you would like to schedule a group tour, please call to make an appointment.

RESOURCES

GRANTS

Grants to support folk, ethnic, and traditional arts are available on an annual basis to support teaching in both one-on-one and group settings. Grants assist individual artists and cultural communities in developing, perpetuating, or presenting their own traditional art forms.

PUBLICATIONS & RECORDINGS

Over the past 30 years, the State Folklife Archives has accessioned thousands of photographs and recordings documenting Utah's traditional art, artists, and community-based events. Educational publications and recordings highlighting folk traditions and artwork are available for purchase. For information on purchasing these products, please contact us.

COLLECTION

A selection of the Folk Arts Collection is on permanent display at the Chase Home Museum of Folk Arts. It is also available digitally in a searchable database complete with images and biographical information on the artists.
